NATURAL GLAMOUR

Re-create Margot Robbie's artfully undone Oscars look

1 Effortless elegance "I adore Margot's look—natural is cool," says makeup king Napoleon Perdis. "Robbie let her beauty and skin shine through. Hints of bronze and caramel shades on lips and cheeks give her a modern, super-gorgeous look."

2 Your makeup checklist "You'll need a curling black mascara, matte bronzer and a creamy lipstick in a dusty rose," says Perdis. "Less is more. Foundation should look more minimal than mask-like. I recommend keeping your forehead free of makeup as it can sit in fine lines and look ageing. Add a hint of colour in neutral shades to the lips and cheeks, and generously apply black mascara to top and bottom lashes."

3 Golden highlights "Margot has moved away from the ultra bleached-blonde look to a more fashion-forward, achievable colour—it's a more illuminated, golden blonde with a warmer feel," says Shari Reynolds, head colourist at Sydney's Barney Martin hair salon. "Ask for highlights, smudge and gloss to achieve this multi-tonal blonde." Mane maintenance is strict: "No saltwater or chlorine as it's too corrosive, and protect hair with a hat, as lots of sun exposure can bring out yellow tones."

4 Cool-girl hair "The secret to Robbie's casual waves? Don't try too hard. "Use a tennis ball-size dollop of medium-hold foam and rake through your hair from roots to ends," says session stylist Anthony Nader from Sydney's Raw salon. "Grab your tong and wrap just the mid-lengths around the barrel, leave the ends, then spritz with hairspray for extra hold."
